

POPULARITY IS FAILURE

"But that's what everyone wants!" -- For too long, humanity has been ruled by popular opinion. Most people are gawking fools who desire the lowest common denominator in any situation. You see them in offices, doing menial tasks that must have been invented for them because they can do nothing else. In every election they vote some smirking, condescending mall-culture moron into office. At stores, they agitate for dumber cheaper products to replace quality. They murdered culture because they didn't understand it. They demanded pluralism so no one could criticize their inane "lifestyle choices." We are the consequence: a separate culture within that rejects the illusory world of "what everyone wants." We will hack your networks, reprogram your philosophy and decode your values. We are a civilization where truth is more important than popularity. You are a failed past. We are the future.

YOU ARE OBSOLETE

www.anus.com

POPULARITY IS FAILURE

"But that's what everyone wants!" -- For too long, humanity has been ruled by popular opinion. Most people are gawking fools who desire the lowest common denominator in any situation. You see them in offices, doing menial tasks that must have been invented for them because they can do nothing else. In every election they vote some smirking, condescending mall-culture moron into office. At stores, they agitate for dumber cheaper products to replace quality. They murdered culture because they didn't understand it. They demanded pluralism so no one could criticize their inane "lifestyle choices." We are the consequence: a separate culture within that rejects the illusory world of "what everyone wants." We will hack your networks, reprogram your philosophy and decode your values. We are a civilization where truth is more important than popularity. You are a failed past. We are the future.

YOU ARE OBSOLETE

www.anus.com